Disastrous Railroad Accident. CINCINNATI, December 18.b.—A collision occurred last night at King's station, thirty miles from here, between the limited express and a passenger train on the Pittsburg, Cincinnati and St. Louis road. The extent of the damage is not fully, known. W. H. Wharton, postal clerk, was instantly killed. Postal clerks Hanover, Hollingshead and Goebel were also hurt. One engineer is reported killed. There is no news regarding the passengers. The railroad men say they the passengers. The railroad men say they have no information.

[SECOND DISPATCH.] CINCINNATI, December 18th .- It is now postal clerk Wharton and engineer Peters.
No passengers were hurt. Kiraify Bros.' elephant was killed. This is the elephant recently dosed with two gallons of whisky. [THIRD DISPATCH.]

CINCINNATI, December 18th .- Details are CINCINNATI, December 18th.—Details are extremely meager, but the following is known: The accident happened on a high curve betwee. Foster and New Lebanon. Engineer Pike Peters, of the east-bound train, had his head separated from his body. Postal clerk W. H. Wharton, living in Urbania, was also instantly killed, and W. H. Hanover, postal clerk; M. Hollingshead, a substitute; Harry Madison and Adam Geokel, postal clerks, were seriously injured. No satisfactory reason is given for the accident. satisfactory reason is given for the accident.

[FOURTH DISPATCH.] CINCINNATI, December 18th.—Later in-formation adds: J. C. McCowan, postal clerk, was injured, but his injuries are slight. The cause of the accident was that engineer Pearce mistock the accommodation for the limited express train. At a sharp curve the trains crashed, one at the rate of 45, the other at 40 miles an hour. Two engines mashed together, and the postal cars piled upon them. No other cars were thrown from the track. Kiralfy Bros.' elephant was not killed, as re-Frightful Powder Explosion.

The explosion shook a number of buildings in this city. SECOND DISPATCH.]

PATERSON, December 18th.—The names of the men killed are Bryan Tansy, Henry Ruhl, an emigrant, and John White. The men had just about quit work when the ex-plosion occurred. The buildings for miles around were shaken, and not a pane of glass was left whole in the neighborhood.

Northern Check Gutdone.

Washington, December 18th.-Northern cheek and love of money-making, so much reprobated in the South, have been met and the Ursaline Convent were sent home to day over-matched in the sound clime of Georgia.

The United States Senate sent a committee to attend to Ben Hill's funeral and assume the expenses. It was an average country the expenses. It was an average country faithful not to accept invitations for a Management of the Georgia Lodge. village undertaker who arrived here lately sonic ball in honor of the Grand Lodge, and presented a bill for $3,100. Among the items was one charging $600 for a hearse, probably a greater price than any hearse in the South cost; one for embalming, $500—usual price here, $25; and one for a casket,

They asked: "Have you a partner?"
"Yes." "Did he make out the bill ?"

"No; I did."

"Well, we are convinced you are crazy.

You had better go back and let your partner make out a new bill, so that we can see if he, too, is entirely demented."

The Georgia undertaker offered to cut the bill down at one fell swoop to $1,860, but the committee would not listen to it, and sent him back to make out a new account. He had to borrow money from an undertaker here to pay his way back. His original idea was, when he set out from home, that his bill would be promptly paid; then he would have taken a brother undertaker, living here, and gone with him to New York for a jolly good time. Imagine the two undertakers on a Miss.

The Political Assessment Case Decided. Washington, December 18th.—The Supreme Court of the United States to-day rendered a decision in the celebrated political assessment case of Newton Curtis, Curtis was employed in the New York Custom-house, and was convicted under the statute nouse, and was convicted under the statute forbidding any officer or employe of the Government, not appointed by the President, from receiving from a fellow-employe money to be used for political purposes. The case came before the Supreme Court on an application for a writ of habeas corpus, on the ground of unconstitutionality, being an abridgment of the personal libeaty of Corp. ground of unconstitutionality, being an abridgment of the personal liberty of Government employes in the capacity of citizens. The opinion was read by Chief Justice Waite, and holds that the Act is entirely constitutional, and tending to purity and efficiency in the public services that while is expected. public service; that while it prohibits one imploye of the Government from receiving a employe of the Government from receiving a political assessment or a contribution from another, it does not prohibit such payments to persons not in Government employ—30 that an employe may give money to advance the interests of his party, if so inclined. The opinion further holds that the commitment of the prisoner pending the payment of the fine imposed was lawful, and Curtis was remanded to the custody of the Marshal for the Southern District of New York. Justice Bradley read a dissenting opinion, holding that the law is unconstitutional, as it is an interference with the individual liberty of

All the railroad men are silent. Kiralfy's "Around-the-World" combination was on the east-bound train. Their elephant, Bamboo, was killed, but as far as known the other members of the company wholly escaped.

[FOURTH DISPATCH.] CINCINNATI, December 18th.—Later information adds: J. C. McCowan, postal clerk, was injured, but his injuries are slight. The cause of the accident was that engineer Pearce mistock the accommodation for the limited express train. At a sharp curve the trains crashed, one at the rate of 45, the other at 40 miles an hour. Two engines mashed together, and the postal cars piled upon them. No other cars were thrown from the track. Kiralfy Bros.' elephant was not killed, as reported.

CHRISTMAS STORY.

In the Christmas number of the RECORD-UNION will appear a Christmas story, written for this journal by one of the most talented and popular of European novelists. It will be complete in that number, and will probably occupy between fourteen and fifteen columns. It will be found to be a deeply interesting romance, strong in character sketches, powerful in its descriptive phases, and to have a plot most natural and of thrilling interest. It will n all respects be the leading and most attractive Christmas story published in any news journal of SERVICE REPORM.

The debates in the United States on re- dent in 1884. form of the Civil Service have brought out some damaging declarations from Democrats. Senator Voorhees made a speech the other day which may well render more sagacious members of his party uncomfortable, and the more especially since there is the best reason for believing that the views he expressed are really those which the Democracy is most likely to act upon. He speered at the proposition for competitive examinations and permanent tenure, employing the stale device of ridiculing the examination papers. He sought to create the expression that he was nevertheless desirous of reform, but that he wanted it to be begun among the higher officials. His positions, however, were in of eleven days. This is said to be the best no respect consistent with one another, for having contended that there was no need for reform as regards the minor offices, asking, "Who had ever heard of any scandals occurring among the lower grade of "clerks?"-he went on to express the opinion that "if the Democratic party covery. 'should come into power it ought to 'purify the service by making a thorough 'and radical change of officeholders.' That is doubtless the ordinary Democratic doctrine. A thorough and radical change of officeholders; a substitution of Demo-In New York Government bonds are quoted at | crats for Republicans in every office ; is the measure of Democratic reform as understood by the majority of the party. Senstor Voorhees is not politic, but he is at least candid in the expression of his opinions. He believes that to the victors belong the spoils, and he has the profound contempt of the veteran politician for the new ideas of reform and non-partisan official service. Senator Sherman made a speech on the same day which forms an agreeable contrast to that of Mr. Voorhees. Senator Sherman has been at the head of a departto 13,315 shares. Apart from one sale of 10 shares ment, and therefore he knows from personal experience the vices and defects of the spoils system. And thus speaking from personal experience he declared that he favored three changes in the civil service : "First, the taking away of the power to "select employes by favoritism, and the 'passage of a law that admission to the service should be secured by competitive 'examinations open to all. Second, the ' prohibition of removals except for cause. 'Third, the prohibition of political assessments, without interfering with the right of officials to contribute voluntarily for "legitimate political purposes." And it is apparent that these three changes would result in a complete and lasting reform, not merely of the civil service, but of existing political methods. Senator Sherman is of opinion that "removals with-"out cause would be very rarely made if "the pressure of Senators and Representa-"tive for appointments in the executive "departments was stopped." There can be no doubt that this is true. So long as Senators and Representatives retain the power of compelling appointments, they themselves will be unable to resist the pressure put upon them from without, nor can they be expected to refrain from making the utmost use of the great power which the patronage puts in their hands. Of course also the evil of making appoint-made use of. The only way to abolish the abuses of the civil service is to take away the patronage from Congress completely. And it is not enough to establish competitive examinations if that power is allowed to exist, for in this case the examinations will be evaded or made a mere farce of, and the spoils system will flourish under the shelter of sham reform. But if the Senators and Representatives are absolutely prohibited from making any recommendations for An Eastern journal has been trying to employment, and if at the same time exshow that Vanderbilt has lately been vic. aminations are established, and if then retimized and fleeced by combinations of moval without cause be put an end to, the shrewd men who built lines of railroad problem will be solved. GENERAL NOTICES

Bon't Forget the Sozodont, But use it regularly after every meal. It imparts a pleasant flavor to the mouth, changes offensive secretions into healthful, invigorates the gums, and cleanses the interstices of the teeth. Like old Hercules, it purifies the Augean stables which some have in their mouth.

Forty years' experience of an old nurse.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP is the prescription of one of the best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and has been used for forty years with never-failing success by millions of mothers for their children. It relieves the child from pain, cures dysentery and diarrhea, griping in the bowels, and wind colic. By giving health to the child it rests the mother. Price, Twenty-five Cents a bottle.

A Card .- To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, etc., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. THE WEATHER.—The rain-storm of yesterday, according to Sergeant Barwick's report, was .11 of an inch, making .29 of an inch for the month, and 6.71 for the season. The season of 1877—8, gave 2.42 inches: 1878-9. season of 1877-8 gave 2 42 inches; 1878-9, the Bar of Sacramento, all of whom are your friend 1.47 inches; 1879-80, 4.60 inches; 1880-1, 6.03 inches; 1881-2, 5.43 inches. The average for the past six years to the 10th of December of each year is 4.44 inches. The In reply Mr. Denson said:

May it please the Court and Gentlemen of the Bar: I scarcely know what I can say in response to the very flattering remarks that have been made by Mr. Johnson on behalf of the Bar, and I do not know how to thank you for the high compliment you have paid me and the beautiful present you have tendered me. I am not well to-day. I am suffering from nervous prostration, succeeding long and continued exertion to close up my official labors. I have just been notified that something was to be done—1 knew not what—and that has tended to additional nervousness. A few moments ago I was informed that my presence would be desired present season is 2 27 inches in excess of the mean average for the past six years to a corresponding date. Dispatches received at the RECORD UNION office show that the rain has extended over the whole northern portion of the State, with snowfall in the mountains. The dispatches also state that the prospects for a good crop the coming season are excel-

JUDGE DENSON RETIRES,

Bon. T. B. McFarland Fis Successor-A Handsome Present - The Fresentation Speech and the Recipient's Reply.

called to order. It was generally known that Hop. T. B. McFarland had received the appointment as Superior Judge, to succeed Hon. S. C. Denson, and nearly all the attorneys who practice in the Court were present, besides a number of spectators. Judge Denson introduced Mr. McFarland to the members of evening it marked 8 feet 8 inches above lowthe Bar, and bespeke for his successor the same kindness and courtesy which had always been shown to him. Judge McFarland then officially announced that Hon. S. C. Denson had resigned his office as Judge of that Court, and that he had been appointed and commissioned by the Governor of the State to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation, the vacancy occasioned by the resignation, and stated that he would now assume the duties of the office. At this point Hon. Grove L. Johnson arose, and on behalf of the members of the Bar of Sacramento county presented the retiring Judge with a very handsome table set of solid silver. It consisted of a dozen each of knives, forks, tablespoons and teaspoons with elegantly carved handles and a soup ladle lined with gold, the whole encased by a beautiful satin-lined plush case. On making the presentation, Mr. Johnson

On making the presentation, Mr. Johnson spoke as follows: May it please the Court : To speak well of a per-day indeed in the history of our lives. Such a time is this.

Judge Denson, my brethren of the Bar have given me the proud and pleasant though difficult privilege of voicing their feelings towards you, sir, at this hour of your voluntary retirement from the Bench, and have commissioned me to present to you in their name a token of their regard.

It is now seven years since the voters of the Sixth Judicial District of the State of California, comprising the counties of Yolo and Sacramento, called you, Samuel C. Denson, to act as the District Judge of that Judicial District. It is now three years since, under the provisions of our new Constitution, the voters of Sacramento county repeated their call and made you one of the Superior Judges of this county. For seven years the properties, the persons and the lives of our people have been daily brought before your Court for adjudication by you upon their diverse and conflicting interests. For that period of time our profession of the law, the most exacting and critical of all known to man, has watched your course and reviewed your decisions. For that period the whole people of Sacrament city and county have known you almost intimately because the prominence of your station has a very

For that period the whole people of Sacrament ity and county have known you almost intimately because the prominence of your station has served to direct the eyes of all upon you and your actions and speech. For these long years we lawyers have met you in frequent converse in daily trials of trivial and important cases. In talk and action as a man, as a lawyer and as a Judge have we known and viewed you, and our unanimous verdict of seven years' acquaintance I now express in saying that we respect, admire and esteem you in each and all of these relations of life.

The exalted position of a Judge inevitably brings into prominence all the qualities of a man—those of evil, if he has them, as well as those of good—and proves a crucial test of the inner fibers of his mental and moral nature. The practically unrestrained power invested in a Judge, his full control of matters submitted to him and of persons appearing and attorneys practicing in his Court, all tend to foster in a weak man exaggerated and disagreeable ideas of his own invested or a superior and the province and the prov

In reply Mr. Denson said:

May it please the Court and Gentlemen of the Bar: I searcely know what I can say in response to bar: I scarcely know what I can say in response to the very flattering remarks that have been made by Mr. Johnson on behalf of the Bar, and I do not know how to thank you for the high compliment you have paid me and the beautiful present you have tendered me. I am not well to-day. I an and continued exertion to close up my official labors I have just been notified that something was to be one—I knew not what—and that has tended to additional nervousness. MEADVILLE, Pa., Aug. 28, 1882.

Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.: I think it my duty to write to you in regard to my case. I was one of the to the terrible disease for several years, and have been entirely cured by the use of your Swift's Specific.

S. S. S. will cure it, and it is the only thing that will do it. I had tried everything, and all the prominent physicians in Buffalo, Rochester and Cleveland, but this only made me worse, and broke down my general health with mercury and potash. I heard of your remedy, but it was not sold here, so 1 went to S la to get it. When I began to use it I was in a bad condition. My mouth was full of ulcers, head full of sores, hair and eyebrows gone, but now I am as sound as a new dol-
